LIST OF MARINE INVERTEBRATA FROM THE NEW ENGLAND COAST, DISTRIBUTED BY THE U. S. COMMISSION OF FISH AND FISHERIES.

SERIES I.

Set No. 16

[Distributed in fifty sets, put up by Mr. Richard Rathbun, under the direction of Professor A. E. Verrill, 1879.]

Contains 179 species

EXPLANATION.

The specimens included in the following list are preserved in alcohol, unless otherwise stated. The authority given for the name is usually the author who first used the combined binomial name herein adopted, and is not necessarily that of the author who first described the species, or gave the specific name. (A name in parentheses is authority for the specific name only.)

The species are not all included in each of the fifty sets, but those sent in each numbered set are checked on the list bearing the corresponding number. The species now distributed are not to be considered as the most common, but simply those which happen to be at present most abundantly represented in the collections of the Fish Commission, or those which, for other reasons, can be most conveniently distributed at this time, and have been so selected as to give representatives of most of the important groups. It will also be understood that the species included in this list form but a very small proportion (less than one-twelfth) of the total number of species contained in the collections made by the Fish Commission on the New England coast.

OCCURRENCE OF CHELURA TEREBRANS, A CRUSTACEAN DESTRUCTIVE TO THE TIMBER OF SUBMARINE STRUCTURES, ON THE COAST OF THE UNITED STATES.

By SIDNEY I. SMITH.

Upon the coast of Europe an Amphipod belonging to the genus Chelura has long been known, associated with the Isopod Limnoria lignorum, or "gribble" of English writers, in destroying the timber of all kinds of submarine structures. But, upon the coast of the United States, the Chelura has apparently escaped detection until very recently, and I

BRITISH NATURAL-HISTORY SOCIETY.

Established for the prosecution of researches in Natural History and for the promotion of a taste for this pursuit by distributing among its Members collections of both fossil and recent specimens correctly named, and accompanied by references to works in which the species are described and figured.

SEE OVER

The British Natural-History Society is intended to occupy an entirely new position among the scientific associations of this country. The Linnean Society, the Palæontographical, and various other kindred Institutions, circulate by the aid of the Printer and Draughtsman, information about the objects of Nature. The British Natural-History Society proposes to circulate the objects themselves. Its funds will be applied to researches in the boundless field of discovery presented by the Seas, the Cliffs, and such inland districts of the British Islands as promise best to repay the cost of exploration; and while numerous forms of organic life hitherto unknown will thus be discovered, the Subscribers will severally receive a share of the objects so gathered together, the value of which will be enhanced to the receivers, by the accompanying record of localities, and the identification of the species when practicable with published figures and descriptions. The Society has a collecting station on the Hampshire Coast in active operation, and above 25,000 specimens of the beautiful Tertiary Fossils of Barton Cliff, (Christchurch), and Colwell Bay, (Isle of Wight), have already been distributed among its Members.

At present the operations of the Society are limited to the exploration of the Hampshire Tertiary fossiliferous beds, but in the event of stations being established in other parts of the Kingdom, and the attention of the Collectors extended to the existing British Fauna, it will be optional with the Members to receive the equivalent of their subscriptions in collections of either fossil or recent specimens. As some species occur but rarely, and others in comparative abundance, a graduated subscription proportioned to the extent of the collection which the Subscribers may severally wish to possess, appears to present the only equitable mode of apportioning the specimens collected. Funds are provided in advance for the weekly expenditure of the Collecting Station, and after allowing for printing, postage, and various other incidental expenses, the following scale of subscription is founded upon the outlay incurred, and total number of Fossils procured, from the 1st of Sept., 1848, to Sept., 1849:—Subscribers of 12s. 6d. receive a series of 100 specimens, including 40 species; of 25s. 160 specimens, including 75 species; of £1. 17s. 6d., 200 specimens, including 100 species.* The collections, accompanied by printed catalogues, will be ready (either in London or York) for transmission or delivery to the Subscribers within four months from the payment of the subscription.

Catalogues of the Fossils obtained, with more detailed information can be had upon application to the Provisional Secretary, EDWARD CHARLESWORTH, Esq., York, to whom or to the Treasurer, EDW. SMALLWOOD, Esq., York, Subscriptions may be remitted by Post-office order.

It is hoped that the receivers of these Cards, if friendly to the attainment of the objects above set-forth, will aid the Society, by circulating this brief notice of its proceedings among those who may be thought likely to co-operate in effecting its permanent establishment. The co-operation of Foreign Naturalists is earnestly invited, and as Tertiary Fossils are light, and capable of being packed in comparatively very small space, their transmission abroad would be effected at very trifling cost.

These cards may be had at the rate of 5 for 8 penny stamps, this being their cost to the Society allowing for prepayment of postage.

York, May, 1850.

* This scale applies prospectively and to Subscriptions received since the 1st of March, 1849.

COLLECTIONS OF SHELLS,

(from Mazatlan, Gulf of California,)

Named from the Type Series in the British Museum, according to the "Descriptive Catalogue" printed by order of the Trustees; and packed under the Author's superintendence.

Most of the shells are in very fine condition, untouched by acid. They are especially valuable (1) from the locality being known to be genuine; (2) from each name being given by the author of the only work published on the fauna of Mazatlan.

The following Series may be ordered direct from the Author, "Philip P. Carpenter, Oberlin Press, Warrington." They are packed ready for delivery, and are all sealed with his own initials; without which, he will not be answerable for the contents.
